

	I can sometimes use apostrophes to show possession	I can identify and use a comma and an apostrophe .
I can tell the difference between homophones and near homophones	I can use commas for lists.	I can identify and use a suffix .		I can use appropriate main features of a chosen genre (diary, letter, information text, etc.).	I can read through my writing to check it makes sense, including the use of verbs to indicate time.	I can read aloud what I have written with expression to make the meaning clear.
I can spell common homophones	I can use some subordination (when, if, because)	I can identify and use a command .		I can use some expanded noun phrases to describe and specify .	I can read through my writing to check it makes sense.	I can see the relationship of capital letters and digits to one another and to lower case letters.
I can use a dictionary correctly.	I can use co-ordination (or, and, but)	I can identify and use a statement and a question .		I can use creative and appropriate language for effect.	I can proof read for spelling, grammar and punctuation errors.	I am beginning to understand which letters, when next to one another, are best not to join.
I can add suffixes to spell some words (-ment, -ness, -ful, -less, -ly)	I can use the present and past tense correctly and consistently.	I can identify and use a noun phrase .		I can write for different purposes.	I can check and improve my writing with other pupils.	I am starting to use some of the diagonal and horizontal strokes needed to join letters.
I know that some phonemes have more than one grapheme and select the correct one for common words.	I can write sentences with different forms (statement, question, exclamation, command).	I can identify and use tense (past and present).	I can write simple sentences, dictated by the teacher, from memory, using punctuation taught so far.	I can write poetry.	I can check and improve my writing with the teacher.	I can write capital letters and digits of the correct size and orientation.
I can segment spoken words into phonemes and show these by graphemes, spelling many correctly	I can spell some words with contracted forms. (can't, don't)	I can identify and use a verb .	I can write simple sentences, dictated by the teacher, from memory, using common exception words.	I can write about real events.	I can encapsulate what I want to say, sentence by sentence.	I can form lower-case letters of the correct size relative to one another.
I can use my spellings in all areas of my writing.	I can use question marks and exclamation marks in some of my writing .	I can identify and use an adjective .	I can write simple sentences, dictated by the teacher, from memory, using GPCs.	I can write about something real that has happened to someone else.	I can record my ideas and key words, including new vocabulary.	I can use spacing between words that reflects the size of the letters .
I can spell many common exception words*	I can use capital letters and full stops in most of my writing .	I can identify and use a noun .	I can write simple sentences, dictated by the teacher, from memory.	I can write about something real that has happened to me.	I can plan my writing by saying out loud what I want to write.	I take pride in my work.
Spelling	Punctuation And Grammar	Terminology	Transcription	Writing for a purpose	Planning, drafting and editing	Handwriting, organisation and presentation